Four years ago, I survived a severe longboarding accident suffering a traumatic brain injury (TBI). I blacked out on impact and woke up with short term memory loss and confusion, and had damage to my neck, ribs, head, and shoulders. A full year passed before any symptoms appeared, but within a few days, I went from a healthy, outgoing teenager to spending all my days almost completely housebound. I only left the house for physical therapy and countless doctor appointments. Vertigo became the most debilitating symptom, causing me to experience daily motion sickness even when I was sitting completely still. I endured migraines, memory problems, cognitive issues, dizziness, nausea, fatigue, depth perception issues, insomnia, anxiety, mood changes, and more. It was 8 months of experiencing these symptoms daily before I was finally diagnosed with a TBI.

Shortly after, I began writing and creating my own music. It became an emotional outlet where I could find a sense of purpose and fulfillment in this new, difficult chapter of my life. Creating art gave me a new sense of hope and happiness that had been all but lost for many months. I released my first self-made EP, “The Letter,” a 5-track project recorded in my bedroom. I have since gained over 17 million Spotify streams, over 100,000 monthly listeners, and I continue to create music and share my personal story on my YouTube channel that is approaching 24,000 subscribers.

In October of 2019, I was diagnosed with two chronic illnesses known as POTS (Postural Orthostatic Tachycardia Syndrome) and Dysautonomia - a dysfunction of the autonomic nervous system - both illnesses a result of my TBI. While it’s been a daily uphill battle, I haven’t let it stop me from doing what I love - writing music and creating art. I’m still in physical therapy and have multiple medical appointments each month. While I continue to experience unpredictable flare-ups from this invisible injury and invisible illness, I have never been happier or more grateful that I get to do what I love every day.

Now at the age of 20, I am releasing my first full-length album Lonely Neighborhood. All 14 tracks are very honest, personal, and relatable. Recorded over 14 months, each song was created from scratch in my bedroom, just like the first EP, with the incredible assistance of talented producers Malte Wegmann and Daniel Lamb. Lonely Neighborhood was released on March 20th, 2020 on all digital platforms and is an artistic experience like none other as I attempt to draw you into my ethereal inner world full of beauty, hope, and nostalgia.

BIAC and the Breckenridge Outdoor Education Center (BOEC) have shared an amazing partnership for over 25 years offering exciting retreats for survivors of an injury to the brain. Throughout the year we offer as many as seven different programs, most of these events are located in Breckenridge Colorado. Accommodation is at the Scott Griffith Lodge located on the BOEC Program site which is situated on 39 acres of land. Activities during the week include a climbing wall, a high ropes course, low initiatives, white water rafting, canoeing, kayaking, adaptive cycling and much more. The emphasis of these retreats is to empower each participant, encourage independence, and exceed perceived limitations.

The mission of the BOEC is to expand the potential of people with disabilities and special needs through meaningful, educational, and inspiring outdoor experiences. The BOEC began back in 1976 with a staff that consisted of volunteers only, gear that came from their closets, and food that was donated or provided by the clients. Since then, we have expanded to offer experiences in adaptive skiing, outdoor wilderness adventures, and offer a renowned internship and volunteer program.

Staff in the Spotlight

Michael Zavala, CTRS. Adaptive Recreation & Activities Coordinator

What is your role at BIAC?
I am the Adaptive Recreation and Activities Coordinator. My role is to coordinate the many recreational programs and classes/workshops we offer. My goal is to aid in providing recreational resources and leisure education services to Coloradans with a brain injury in their pursuit of happiness and independence.

What 3 traits define you?
Adventurous, Hard Working, Ambitious

What is your favorite thing to do outside of work?
Outside of work I enjoy participating in a multitude of outdoor activities, including highlining (slacklining high above the ground), rock climbing, snowboarding/skiing, whitewater paddling, mountain biking and hiking with my dog.
The History of
Pikes Peak Challenge

Written by Kenny Hosack, M.A., Craig Hospital, Hiker 28 of 32 years

The Pikes Peak Challenge Fundraising Event was founded on July 4, 1986 as “Walk Through the Clouds” by Dave and Joyce Meurer of Colorado Springs. Dave and Joyce were co-founders of the Colorado Head Injury Foundation (CHIF) which is now the Brain Injury Alliance of Colorado (BIAC). Dave and Joyce were on the CHIF Board of Directors and facilitated the Colorado Springs Support Group for many years.

Dave was also on the National Head Injury Foundation (NHIF) Board of Directors, and the “Walk Through the Clouds” actually began as a national fundraiser. The first year in 1986 was a “pilot” year, with six of us making the summit. The second year expanded to 15 hikers, including some from other states; and by the third year, the number of hikers grew to around 25. By 1991 the event grew to 126 hikers from 26 states. Hiker fundraising proceeds were split between the hikers’ home state, CHIF, and NHIF.

In 1994, the name was changed from “Walk Through the Clouds” to “Pikes Peak Challenge”, the date was changed from July 4th to the second Saturday in September, and it became a solely Colorado event again. The event has grown over the years, in terms of different hikes offered, numbers of hikers, and in the amount of funds raised. It is an extremely well-run and successful event. Last year the PPC had 530 participants and raised $185,000 for BIAC.

Thank you to Bill Slaughter who was our “trail boss” for most of the past 30 years, and to all the volunteers who help keep us safe on the mountain each year- El Paso Search and Rescue, Air Force Academy, Ft. Carson, Colorado Springs Utilities, and others. Over the years we have endured extreme heat and sun, rain, snow, wind, and lightning- sometimes all on the same day!

Since 1986 there have been thousands of proud souls who will never forget the experience of braving the 13-mile hike 7,510 ft elevation gain to the Pikes Peak Summit of 14,115 ft! The opportunity for persons with brain injuries, their families, professionals, providers, and sponsors to all hike all together for a common cause makes the PPC especially rewarding experience.

If you’ve never done it, I would highly recommend. It will change your life!
